It is your responsibility to have secure access to the internet and we recommend that you change your passwords regularly via our website to keep your details as secure as possible. In addition we strongly suggest that you do not use the same password for any other online accounts you hold.

You must not disclose your username, passwords, or other secure information to any other party. Where we believe the integrity of our systems could be compromised by you providing your username and password details to a third party, we reserve the right to block online access to your account.

Allowing someone to access your account

If you allow someone to link their account to yours they will be able to see all the same information as you would if you were logging into the account. For security reasons, you should not provide your password or other security details to any other individual, including the person you have linked your account to. We will not be responsible for deals placed on your account by a third party, even if those instructions conflict with your wishes, where you have a Linked Account with that person. If you no longer require a Linked Account you should restrict access to your account via the website.

We cannot accept any liability for any financial loss resulting from you not having complied with these terms, or failure by you to take reasonable security precautions.

We do not exclude or limit in any way our liability to any user where it would be unlawful to do so. Nothing in these terms shall exclude or limit liability for: a) death or personal injury caused by our negligence or the negligence of our employees, agents or subcontractors; b) fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation; or c) any duty which we may have under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 or the rules of the Financial Conduct Authority.

We have no liability for:

- any loss of profit, loss of revenue, loss of business, business interruption, loss of opportunity or any indirect, special or consequential loss;
- any losses which arise from any event beyond our reasonable control;
- any losses which could not reasonably have been anticipated; or
- your inability to access and/or use the website.

In addition, different limitations and exclusions of liability will apply to liability arising as a result of the supply of any service or product to you. Such limitations and exclusions will be set out in the additional terms and conditions of sale applicable to the purchase of that product or service.

Any technical support provided by our staff is given in good faith and we cannot accept liability for any data or information held on your computer, which may be lost or damaged in processes advised.

Neither we nor any of our information providers, licensors, directors or employees warrants that the supply of information to users will be uninterrupted or error free; neither do we (nor any such personnel) make any warranty as to the results to be obtained from use of our website.

15. Termination

We may end your rights to use the website at any time if you have broken these terms in a serious way. If what you have done can be put right we will give you a reasonable opportunity to do so. If we do end your right to use the website you must immediately stop using it.

16. General

We may transfer our rights and obligations under these terms to another organisation. We will always tell you in writing if this happens and we will ensure that the transfer will not affect your rights under the contract.

You may only transfer your rights or your obligations under these terms to another person if we agree in writing.

These terms do not give rise to any rights under the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999 to enforce any term of this agreement.

Each section of these terms operates separately. If any court or relevant authority decides that any of them are unlawful, the remaining paragraphs will remain in full force and effect.

No delay, act or omission by us or you in enforcing these terms will prevent us or you from enforcing these terms at a later stage.

17. Applicable laws and jurisdiction

These terms of use, their subject matter and their formation, are governed by English law. You and we both agree that the courts of England and Wales will have exclusive jurisdiction except that if you are a resident of Northern Ireland you may also bring proceedings in Northern Ireland, and if you are resident of Scotland you may also bring proceedings in Scotland.
